

Rhianne Prenton

Bid Writer

What made you choose to work in the construction industry?

Teamwork and communication are fundamental in the construction Industry. Innovative technologies, ground-breaking designs and modern methods are being explored, providing opportunities for the next generation to take the industry to new heights, ultimately changing the world we live in for the better!

If you could choose three words to summarise and describe working in the construction industry, what would they be?

1. Collaborative
2. Challenging
3. Rewarding

What do you enjoy most about working for Tilbury Douglas?

I love working with dynamic teams on every project and engaging with technical specialists to produce compelling, solution-driven proposals and ultimately winning competitive tenders. It's great seeing the projects I have worked on become a reality – it's so rewarding seeing your ideas on paper taking shape in real life!

What would your advice be to women considering a career in construction?

Do it! Work with integrity as part of a team, network with professionals in the industry, and don't be afraid of criticism or asking questions.