

Jack Hollins

Apprentice Civil Engineer, Water North

Why did you choose this apprenticeship scheme?

I have some experience and understanding of construction as a result of working as a labourer and then groundworker, so I decided I wanted a career in construction and learn more about civil engineering.

What is your current role at Tilbury Douglas?

Apprentice civil engineer, but essentially an apprentice civil site engineer learning aspects of setting out and site management.

What's the culture like at Tilbury Douglas?

Lots of laughs. It makes a slow day go faster, and makes it easier to voice concerns, as people are more open to speaking their mind- it also makes it easier to ask questions and learn on the job.

How does Tilbury Douglas support equality, diversity and inclusion?

By employing a variety of people regardless of demography.

What do you love about working for Tilbury Douglas?

The people.

What does the future hold for you?

General foreman, site agent, or design engineer.

Describe yourself in three words.

Curious. Cautious. Determined.

Describe Tilbury Douglas in three words.
